INTRODUCTION

The Lovers is a unique series of erotic role-playing games intended only for adults. The gameplay in this series is different from the other games in that it is measured in weeks or even months instead of minutes or hours. The Lovers daringly intervenes in your erotic life, strongly spicing it up.

The Lovers Stories is a new game version in which partners take on different roles and engage in role-play with each other.

OBJECT OF THE GAME

The Lovers has many goals, but first and foremost, it is to have erotic-filled, passionate and perverted fun. During the game, you will draw cards that prompt you to perform specific actions.

GAMEPLAY

Note that cards must not be shuffled or peeked at before you start playing. The game has two decks, one for each partner. In Level 1, the decks are marked on the underside, indicating the particular gender of the player; in higher levels, they indicate the player's role (dominant or submissive). If, at the higher levels of the game, the players opt for the Switch variation of the game (i.e., in every round, they change their role from submissive to dominant and vice versa), then they should swap decks with every round.

The partners determine the length of the round (each round is recommended to last a week or two) – it signifies the amount of time players have to prepare. As the players begin a round, they each draw one card from their deck. The partners do not show their cards to each other. The drawn cards form a single story to be played together, but the players do not reveal the details of their roles to each other. It is crucial that the partners make sure that each of them feels comfortable with their role and wants to continue playing. Each player prepares for their role within a timeframe set for the round. Each story indicates who initiates the game. Partners play their roles, keeping in mind that the cards are merely a suggestion and the story is just foreplay for further action
